

DR. SVETLANA PAPAZOV

Author, Speaker, and Church Consultant

Svetlana Papazov works with pastors, churches, and marketplace leaders who want to regain relevance and impact the public arena.

Author of the breakthrough book Church for Monday: Equipping Believers for Mission at Work, Svetlana passionately ignites local churches to fulfill the Great Commission by closing the Sunday worship to Monday work gap. She speaks at, consults, and trains various denominational networks, associations, churches, and business groups to become transformation catalysts for their communities. Whether leading your retreat or as a keynote for your next event, Svetlana will reach deep into the heart and communicate a message of hope, practical application, and transformation.

What People are saying:

“It is quite rare for visionaries and leaders to demonstrate also a “well-lived theology.” With refreshing perspective and authenticity that only come by a wealth of experience, Dr. Svetlana Papazov offers a most useful resource, wedding sound ecclesiological commitment and very practical strategies for being the ‘Church for Monday.’”

- Dr. Kevin Dudley, Assistant Professor of Church and Society, Trinity Lutheran Seminary, Columbus, OH

“I believe, the future church will be high-touch, experience focused, and Spirit-evident small congregations that grow from conversions, not church transfers. Its clergy will be bi-vocational and willing to equip believers for their lives on Monday. It will be embedded in the marketplace, dual-using their facilities for their own sustainability and the flourishing of the local economy.”
